Nichols Names Three Finalists In Cherry Tree Queen Contest

Pat Burke

Ruth Reagan

Ann Williams

• ANN WILLIAMS, Ruth Reagan and Pat Burke are the finalists for the 1956 Cherry Tree Queen.

The announcement was made by Peggy Nichols, yearbook editor, soon after the results of the preliminary judging were received from popular singer Perry Como.

Eleven girls were entered by their sororities and Strong Hall. They were judged only on the basis of beauty as shown in one informal and one formal portrait.

Ceylon Offers Grants For Graduates Study

• THE UNIVERSITY OF CEYLON is offering two fellowships to American graduate students for the 1956-57 academic year.

Awards cover room, board and tuition. Grantees should have funds to pay their own travel and incidental expenses, although their applications will be considered for Fulbright travel and supplementary maintenance grants.

The Ceylon fellowships offer Americans an opportunity to study a variety of subjects: the sociology, economics, geography and history of Ceylon; Pali, the language of the early Buddhist Srip-

Cadet Majors Win Awards

• THE SEMI-ANNUAL Air Force ROTC review and awards ceremony will be held tomorrow at 1 p.m. at East Potomac Park.

The first review of the newly formed Angel Flight in uniform will be the highlight of the program. The Air Force Headquarters Command Band of Bolling Air Force Base will provide the music.

Distinguished Air Force ROTC Cadets awards will be presented to Cadet Majors Walter L. Baum, Samuel J. Keyser and Robert Reid. Henry G. Doyle, dean of the Columbian College, will make the awards to Cadet Majors Baum and Keyser.

Cadet Maj. Reid will receive the Chicago Tribune Gold ROTC Medal from Arthur E. Burns, dean

Teachers' Meeting

• THE REGIONAL CHAPTER of the American Association of Teachers of Slavic and East European Languages will hold its annual meeting at the University Sunday, January 15, at 3 p.m. in Monroe 100.

The subject for discussion will be "Area Studies—An Educational Approach," under the chairmanship of Dr. Mortimer Graves, executive director of the American Council on Learned Studies.

of the School of Government. The award is presented on the basis of high ideals of leadership, scholastic excellence and outstanding contributions to the Air Force ROTC Program.

Cadet T/Sgt. Roger J. Finch will receive the Chicago Tribune Silver ROTC Medal for outstanding leadership in the Basic Cadet Course. George M. Koehl, acting dean of the Junior College, will make the presentation.

The parade will be under the command of Cadet Lt. Col. James E. Swisher.

Sorority Rush

• THE PANHELLENIC Assembly to open Spring rush will be on February 1, 1956 at 8 p.m. in Woodhull House, Room C.

The assembly will precede the Big Sis Coffee hour. All University women who wish to go through the February sorority rush program should attend.

Both new and old students will register for spring rush at the assembly. Registration forms may also be obtained from the Office of Women's Activities.

tures, history and art; Indian philosophy and history; architecture and Indo-Aryan.

Nearly all the lectures are given in English. For field work in the villages some knowledge of Singhalese or Tamil is required.

Unmarried men under 35 years of age are preferred. Other eligibility requirements are: United States citizenship, good academic record, good moral character, personality and adaptability, broad knowledge of the culture of the U.S. and good health.

Candidates should apply to the United States Student Department of the Institute of International Education located in New York City. The closing date for applications is December 15, 1955.

Troubadours Return From Northern Tour

• THE TRAVELING TROUBADOURS returned from the Arctic last Tuesday after their fifth trip to entertain servicemen in the North East Air Command.

The trip, sponsored by the Air Force, took the group to Newfoundland, Greenland and Labrador, where they gave 38 performances to men of the American Air Force and Navy and the Royal Canadian Air Force.

The Troubadours were accompanied by their director Dr. Robert H. Harmon and Mrs. Harmon, who served as pianist. Also accompanying the group was 1st Lt. Norma Brown, NEAC special projects officer. Lt. Brown expressed her opinion that of all the performances she has seen given for NEAC troops, the Troubadours produced the "very best."

Bases Visited

Among the bases the Troubadours visited are Thule, Greenland; Goose Bay, Labrador; and the RCAF base at Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia. Troubadour manager, Gwyn Perce, said this year's trip was perhaps more significant than last year's because the group performed at more outlying posts.

The Troubadours were the first entertainment group to reach the isolated areas of Globe Command Camp TUTO. After the group's performance at Global Communications Center, near Thule, the troops gave certificates to the girls present, Sally Ricci, Laura Jefferson, Janice Kendrick, and Ruth Berryman, welcoming them into the "Order of the Blue Noses," stating they were the first girls ever to set foot on the base.

Fourth Trip

It was the fourth trip to NEAC for Sally Ricci, girl's chorus director. In recounting a venture the group made out upon an Arctic ice-cap she said, "We had an Arctic picnic on the ice-cap with C rations.

Dr. Harmon expressed his sentiments on the trip at a banquet given in honor of the Troubadours at Pepperrill Air Force Base the last night out. "When we made the first flight to NEAC I considered it an adventure... now I consider it a calling."

Congratulations

Dr. Harmon said that he would like to congratulate and compliment those who took the trip.

Last Sunday the Troubadours held a banquet for Air Force officials who made the trip possible.

Groups Hold Yearly Dance

• THE ANNUAL PILL Rollers Ball will be held Friday the 13th in the Student Union from 9 to 12.

The dance is sponsored by the School of Pharmacy and the Dance Production Groups. Name tags in the form of prescription blanks will be given to dancers. The hostesses will be wearing "in sympathy," "get-well-soon," or "best wishes" floral cards as their name tags. Alpha Delta Pi, Delta Zeta and Pi Beta Phi sororities will supply 50 hostesses.

Music will be furnished by the University Band, directed by Al Bruffey. The 16-piece band will feature several "mixer" dances, including a grand march, the Mexican hat dance, hokey-pokey, and bunny hop. A singing quintet will offer a few selections at intermission and group singing will be held.

Unusual decorations will adorn the Union for the dance. Ronald Lubman, president of the Pharmacy School Council, said that "the decorations will be pharmaceutical."

The Pill Rollers Ball is one of a series of social dances sponsored by the Student Council. All of these dances held in the Union on scheduled Friday nights, are free to University students.

The next social dance will be Friday, February 3. In honor of students new to the University in February, the dance will be sponsored by the Junior College.

U. S. Jets Dominate International Air Transport

Pratt & Whitney Aircraft power

PRATT & WHITNEY AIRCRAFT

DIVISION OF UNITED AIRCRAFT CORPORATION
EAST HARTFORD, CONNECTICUT

The J-57 turbojet, first engine in aviation history to achieve an official power rating in the 10,000-pound thrust class. Its performance in military aircraft blazed the way for American jet transport leadership.

Many engineering graduates would like to be concerned with air power of the next generation. One way to fulfill that ambition is to pursue a career alongside engineers who have consistently produced the world's best aircraft engines.

Most major U. S. airlines, recognizing the future of jet flight in commercial transportation, have placed their orders for jet-powered transports. Of added significance, however, is that American-made equipment will be flown also by foreign airlines in the age of jet travel.

Flying Douglas DC-8 Clippers or Boeing 707 Stratoliners, these domestic and foreign airlines, circling the globe, will shrink it 40 per cent. For power, the entire fleet will rely on Pratt & Whitney Aircraft jet engines. Such achievement is evidence of unchallenged leadership.

Dr. Gamow Receives Leave from University

DR. GEORGE GAMOW, professor of theoretical physics and internationally recognized authority on atomic science, has been granted leave of absence from the University for the spring semester.

Dr. Gamow said he will go to San Diego, Calif., to work with Convair, Inc., and that his work may include the problem of the proposed earth satellite to be launched in 1957. This venture is being undertaken as part of

Group Dances In Pageant

THE UNIVERSITY'S Dance Production Groups performed "Twelve Days of Christmas" on January 2 as part of the final presentation of the Pageant of Peace.

The dancers, who rehearsed two nights a week during the holidays, were: Lenore Alexander, jester; Phyllis Allen and George Moser, young lovers; John and Dale Kline, children of the court; and Frederica Sterling, Verlyn Brown, Barbara Hepfinger, Glenda Beaufort, Linda Beck, Mary Hoffman, Jean Fascat, Joanne Henry, Bob Nickodemus and Dick Manzano as lords and ladies of the castle.

Elizabethan costumes worn by the dancers were designed by Donald Kline, professor of Art, and were tailored by Julie Kline.

Choreography was created and directed by Miss Elizabeth Burtner, director of modern dance.

The Pageant of Peace is an annual presentation of the Board of Trade to promote greater understanding and harmony among nations represented in Washington.

Meeting Starts Fair Planning

REPRESENTATIVES of University activities will meet tomorrow at 3 p.m. in the Conference Room of the Student Union Annex to discuss plans for the coming Activities Fair.

The Fair will be held on February 24 in Lisner Auditorium's Dimock Room under the direction of Beverly Borden, Student Council freshman director. It is designed to promote interest in activities by providing information through booths and skits.

Tomorrow's meeting will give the activities a chance to discuss individual plans for their displays at the Fair. Cards have been sent to the representatives inviting them to the meeting and explaining its purpose. Miss Borden has asked that any groups which have not been contacted send a representative to the meeting.

Congratulations!

• LOCAL NEWSPAPERS that delight in publicizing robberies, murders and drunken parties connected with present or previous University students and organizations, seem to overlook the worthwhile and unselfish contributions made to community groups and organizations.

Not all of the University organizations spent their vacations planning "wild fraternity parties" for their own gratification, but instead, many gave of their time and efforts to bring a happier holiday to others.

Among the organizations who sponsored neighborhood parties were the Religious Council, who gave a Christmas Party for the kindergarten and first grade students of Grant School, and Welling Hall and Kappa Kappa Gamma, who together held a party for underprivileged neighborhood children. The Sigma Chi's gave a party for an orphanage and Chi Omega gave money for the Junior Chamber of Commerce's Pennies for Orphans drive. Delta Gamma caroled to earn money for the blind.

This is the kind of publicity we would like to see in the local newspapers, but until now it has been conspicuous only in its absence. This University has organizations that are as community conscious as any in the city and we congratulate them, if no one else does, for their fine work.

Council Capers

• MANY IMPORTANT items were discussed at last Wednesday's Student Council meeting, its first meeting of the new year.

President Roy Barnard began the meeting by announcing that the University Blood Drive has been called off. No details were available concerning the reason for its discontinuation.

Mr. Barnard went on to say that petitions for the co-chairmanships of the Student Enrollment Committee and for the editorship of the 1956 Student Handbook are still being accepted. This Friday is the deadline for petitions for these two very important positions.

The purpose of the Student Enrollment Committee is to encourage more students to come to the Fair will include an emcee and skits by campus organizations.

Miss Borden said that a tentative fall semester orientation program has been drawn up. The program, which was approved unanimously by the Student Council, is scheduled to begin a full week before registration. A pre-advisory period is also being planned for September 4th through 14th. Entirely new to the University, this pre-advising program was initiated by Dean George M. Koehl, Dean of the Junior College, and has been added to the usual orientation program for the purpose of counseling incoming area students and helping them decide on a schedule before the Registration Week rush.

The orientation program must now be approved by the University in order to receive official status.

It was also announced at the meeting that the next program in the Colonial Series will be held on Wednesday, January 18, at 8:30 in Lisner Auditorium. The program will consist of a concert by the Air Force Band and the Singing Sergeants. As in the past, this will be a closed night.

Next week's Student Council meeting has been changed to Sunday, January 15, at 2:30 because its regular Wednesday meeting date is on a closed night that week. The meeting will be held in the Student Union Annex as usual.

University. The Committee works by having people speak to the area high schools, by inviting high school students to various University affairs free of charge and by taking high school seniors on guided tours of the campus.

The Student Handbook is published each year to better acquaint incoming students with the University; its history, academic programs, extracurricular activities, social life and sports events. Students interested should indicate on their petitions one or two other positions, such as business manager, copy writer, etc., in which

by Jim Rudin

• THE PRICE of grapefruit is of prime importance to me as a graduate student in Manhattan. The price of meat plays a vital role in my daily life. The price of bread is paramount in my existence in Gotham.

Four of my colleagues and myself have formed an eating club. Since we do our own meal planning, it is a necessity to be economical and nutritious, frugal and wholesome, thrifty and healthy. In my neighborhood a knowledge of Yiddish, Spanish and Greek is highly desirable. With facility in the aforementioned tongues, a wise shopper can bicker, badger, browbeat and bother the merchant. Along Columbus Avenue grocers believe in a somewhat flexible price scale. It is up to the customer to wrangle the best deal.

A date in New York often involves "beaucoup d'argent," seemingly infinite patience and a knowledge of logistics. Money is the chief quantity needed for a night out. Popular opinion has it that a New York, (that is, Manhattan) date can run into large sized financial expenditures. This is not quite true, since there are various low-priced, off-beat locations in the city. The fact still remains that a social engagement is more expensive here than in Washington. Most New York food, beverages, transportation and entertainment run higher in cost than in the Nation's Capital.

Patience is a must. One time my date lived in Brooklyn, while I was staying in Queens, and the subway riding time was only 90 minutes each way. In New York, the rule seems to be "leave early and return late." Alas, I pine for the good old days when a trip from Arlington to Chevy Chase was considered a major expedition. A car is practical on a date, but only if the socializing takes place in a suburban area. The Manhattan area is no place for an automobile on a Saturday night.

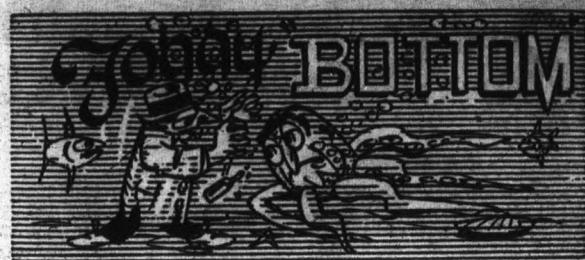

Finally, a simple thing like a double date can become a major campaign. One girl may live in Brooklyn, the other may reside in Queens, while the two boys may call the Bronx their home. It should be remembered that the Borough of the Dodgers is as large as Chicago. As one readily sees, subways, buses and taxis may be used before the night gives way to dawn. All in all, a skilled hand is needed to coordinate the entire venture so that everyone arrives on time at the correct place.

Street corners are not just "81st and Madison," but are pin-pointed thusly: "the southeast corner of 81st and Madison, in front of the art gallery." To the uninitiated, all this exactitude may seem a bit unnecessary. Let me be the first to state that such is not the case, for a futile wait on a gusty corner is an experience not quickly erased from the mind.

Money, patience and planning . . . three "musts" for a New York date. . . .

A familiar wish is to live in an "arty" loft or garret in Manhattan. College girls especially harbor this desire, the hope to paint, write, compose, act or dance in Manhattan. This somewhat over-worked dream always contains an exquisite apartment full of mobiles, drapes, modern art, hi fi sets, blaring color schemes and advanced design furniture.

I had the rare and unforgettable opportunity to visit just such a place. Two girls shared the loft, one an artist, the other, a writer. Their garret was in lower Manhattan, tucked neatly under the glare of the DAILY FORWARD's red neon beacon. The FORWARD is New York's Yiddish journal.

• GREETINGS ALL . . . H. Heale is not with us this week. The story goes that she was last seen leaving a party on New Year's Eve, and nothing has been heard from her since. But such reports are unreliable. We are sure Hester will return in a week for you know what.

Much, much has happened in the past few weeks! With no further ado I will get down to facts

To start on an academic note, the semi-annual Current History study session will be held at the AEP house, 1910 G St., on Thursday at 8 p.m.

So much for the academic . . . let's get to the parties. Everyone, but everyone, celebrated New Year's Eve in the long-approved manner. The Phi Sigs were among the many. They climaxed a series of holiday parties with a rip-roarin' blast on New Year's Eve. Numerous brothers attended and, to coin a very old phrase, a good time was had by all.

That same night the Sig Ep's held a "House of Blue Lights" party, complete with noise makers and champagne.

The Kappa Sigs held not one, but two, New Year's Eve blasts. The Shoreham is reported to be just recovering from the first of these, but the KS house, being more durable and used to that sort of thing, is still in good condition. Still in 1955, the KS's held their annual Black and White formal. Decorations included a ceiling-high tree full of blue lights. The brothers welcomed back their Stardust Queen, PiPhi Judy Stimpson, from her recent vacation in Europe.

Pikes danced to the music of Bernie Passeltine's combo on New Year's Eve. Seen dancing and otherwise were John Posts and KKG Loydell Jones, Tom Brown and Betty Tudor, Hank Hobbs and PiPhi Nita Nowlin. But the big question is "What happened to Ceece La Sturgeon at midnight?"

Up on 19th St., the SAE's started the holiday season with their annual Champagne Christmas Party. Champagne and holiday spirits flowed freely, but the evening ended with carol singing and dancing. The brothers welcomed the New Year with noisemakers, confetti and balloons.

Two Pledge Formals are reported to Foggy. The DG's presented 17 lovely pledges at their dance at Rocco's. The partying was continued at post-dance parties given by Pat Schlemmer and by Micky Croce. Several couples went to the Pike house; Ray Murray and Inez Tonelli, newly-planned Nancy Beale and Frank Harding and Betty Wallace and Warren Lytle.

The Chi O's held their annual Pledge Formal at the Fort Myer Officer's Club. Fourteen pledges walked through the Golden Horse-shoe and were presented with nosegays of white carnations. The dance adjourned to Jeannette Breden's where everyone consumed tons of sausage, scrambled eggs and hot biscuits. Some of the many present were Chariene McDonald with Graham King, who is getting ready to go back to the Air Force, Pat Stanner and SAE Cecil Charles, and newly-engaged Liz Weber and Fred Burford.

The Sigma Nu's crowned Dottie Munroe, their new Sweetheart, with a crown of White Roses at their annual White Rose Formal at the Cloud Room.

Combination of Work, School Prove Ability

by Elva Schrebel

• PRESIDENT OF Mortar Board, president of her sorority, Pi Beta Phi, and a full-time government clerk typist, Barbara Harvey is a good example of the working college student and living proof that college and work do mix.

Barbara started college at DePauw where she was elected to Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman scholastic honorary. In her sophomore year she transferred to the University and started working part-time. Barbara has worked in Dr. Delbert's office, in the Public Relations office, in the Registrar's office and for a year and a half she was Miss Kirkbride's private secretary. She is now working full time at the U. S. Information Agency.

Letter In Sailing

Meanwhile she has been busy in campus activities. Last year she was circulation manager for the Cherry Tree and social chairman for Big Sis. A member of the varsity sailing team, she won her letter in sailing competition against other schools.

This year, as president of Mortar Board, she is a member of the Student Life Committee, which meets once a month to discuss student affairs. As president of Pi Phi, she is a member of PanHellenic in which she serves as constitution chairman. Her many activities have been recognized by her selection for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Pi Beta Kappa

But with all her activities and her working schedule, Barbara's grades have remained high—high enough for her to be elected to Pi Beta Kappa and also to Pi Gamma Mu, social sciences scholastic honorary.

In her spare time (what little she has of it), Barbara likes to concoct new dishes in the efficiency apartment she shares with another girl, and to knit. She started a pair of argyles about two years ago and after intending them for several various boys (who have since gotten married or engaged) she plans to settle them on her brother-in-law. "I always was a slow knitter," she says ruefully.

Born In Glasgow

Brown-haired Barbara was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and though she has spent most of her life in the United States, her family went back for a year when she was about thirteen. It was there that she had her introduction to note-taking. "I went to a place called Skerry's College in Glasgow and the system was based on note-taking," she says. "It was good experience, but at the time I was too bothered by the lack of central heating, or of any heating at all, and the rationing to fully appreciate it."

After graduation in June, Barbara's plans are uncertain. In the immediate future, she may drive out to a national convention in California with some of her sorority sisters. In the long range, she hopes eventually, with her foreign affairs major, to get a position with the U.S.I.A. or with the State Department. In the meantime, she's very busy being a working college student.

On The Level

by Dick Sincott

IT HAD STARTED to snow at about 11 a.m. By 1:30 in the afternoon, the streets, cars, people, and gratings and sewer tops were dressed in a negligee of white with ermine borders along the curbstones. The din of the city passed through a natural mute. It was cold in New York; wind whipped the snow about.

For the Colonials it was their first game against Manhattan in New York since 1949, when Manhattan walked off a 76-64 winner. This was also the first time any of the boys had played collegiate ball in Madison Square Garden. And for some it was the first time they had ever been to New York City.

By six in the evening the snow had stopped, leaving two to four inches of snow from a storm that had caught the Big Town completely off balance. A couple of blocks off Times Square the white gritted under foot as we walked up Eighth Avenue to the Garden. Inside the huge arena we were all alone except for the vendors getting ready and Manhattan's Jaspers dressing on the other side.

Empty, the place almost demands quiet tones and a little awe. The boys walked around, heads up, surveying the mighty palace of sports and champions. The basketball court had a deep, glossy polish and had a wide band of intense green as an out-of-bounds border. I went for a walk around the place to satisfy myself. From the second tier, Madison Square Garden's hugeness really hit me. In the dark and emptiness it was startlingly impressive.

While the boys were dressing, we sat around the press table and first row of the gallery trading some banter about the game. A Manhattan student sat down a few rows back and began to shout encouragement to the Jaspers warming up on the court. A friend sat down beside him; together they weighed the game. Watching the Colonials warm up, the friend commented about our winning streak, about Joe Holup and about our national prestige.

"It's nothin'," said the first. "Watch 'em. They hit now, but they'll get the Garden Batters. We'll take 'em."

I chortled to myself, a little smug, but also a little wary and a little apprehensive. Madison can have a violent effect on a team. We needed this one, this one before the New York press and critical fans. Manhattan wanted to stop our winning streak before the home students. Then, Miss Gladys Gooding opened up on her organ and swung out with "Hail to the Buff." It was an appreciated little pleasantry, played three times.

Three minutes after the opening tap, it was clear that Manhattan was dedicated and that G. W. was abnormally nervous. With six-and-a-half minutes gone, the Buff were down 16-4, and the Jaspers were sniffing an upset.

After 13 minutes Manhattan was racing along with a 28-11 lead. It was almost astonishing to watch the Colonials do nothing right. Suddenly Holup started to hit like he and the basket were long lost, dear friends. The Holup

ADVENTURES IN SOCIAL SCIENCE: NO. 2

Doff your caps and bells; there will be no fun and games this day. Today, with earnestness and sobriety, we make the second of our forays into social science. Today we take up the most basic of all the social sciences—sociology itself.

Sociology teaches us that man is a social animal. It is not his instincts or his heredity that determine his conduct; it is his environment. This fact is vividly borne out when one considers any of the several cases of children who were raised by wild animals. Take, for example, the dossier on Julio Sigafoos.

Julio, abandoned as an infant in a dark wood near Cleveland, was adopted by a pack of wild dogs and reared as one of their own. When Julio was found by a hunter at the age of twelve, the poor child was more canine than human. He ran on all fours, barked and growled, ate raw meat, lapped water with his tongue, and could neither speak nor understand one single word. In short, he was a complete product of his environment.

Julio, incidentally, was more fortunate than most wild children. They never become truly humanized, but Julio was exceptional. Bit by bit, he began to talk and walk and eat and drink as people do. His long dormant mental processes, when awakened at last, turned out to be remarkably acute. In fact, he was so bright that he learned to read and write in a month, got through grammar school in five years and high school in two. And last June, as thousands of spectators, knowing Julio's tragic background, stood and cheered, he was graduated valedictorian from Cal Tech with a degree in astrophysics!

(Who can say to what towering heights this incredible boy would have risen had he not been killed the day after commencement while chasing a car?)

But I digress. To return to sociology, people tend to gather in groups—a tendency that began, as we all know, with the introduction of Philip Morris Cigarettes. What an aid to sociability they are! How benignly one looks upon his fellows after a puff of Philip Morris's gentle, pleasant, flavorful tobacco! How eager it makes one to share, to communicate, to extend the hand of friendship! How grateful we all are to Philip Morris for making possible this togetherness! How good not to live in the bleak pre-Philip Morris world, with every man a stranger!

The groups that people live in today (thanks to Philip Morris) vary widely in their customs. What is perfectly acceptable in one society may be outlandish in another. Take, for instance, the case of Ug Poopoomoogoo.

Ug, a Polynesian lad, grew up in an idyllic South Sea isle where the leading social event of the year was the feast of Max, the sun god. A quaint all-day ceremony was held, with tribal dancing, war chants, fat lady races, pie eating contests, and, for the grand finale, the sacrifice of two dozen maidens.

According to Ug's folkways, sacrificing maidens was quite acceptable, but when in his eighteenth year he was sent as an exchange student to the University of Wisconsin, he soon learned that Americans take a dim view of this practice—in Wisconsin, at any rate. The first twelve or thirteen maidens Ug sacrificed, he was let off with a warning. When, however, he persisted, drastic measures were taken—he was de-pledged by his fraternity. A broken man, Ug quit school and moved to Milwaukee where today he earns a meagre living as a stein.

Why John Gunther reads The Reader's Digest

"I am fond of The Reader's Digest on all sorts of scores, but mainly because it always lives up uncompromisingly to being what its name implies—a service to readers. In a dozen languages—Inside Asia, Inside Europe, Inside South America, Inside Africa—it brings readers an invaluable cargo of pleasure, information and encouragement sifted scrupulously and zealously from printed pages all over the world."

Swimming Meet Is Feature This Week

by Chis McAvoy

• THE ANNUAL INTRAMURAL Swimming Meet will take place this Friday, January 13, at the YMCA on G St. and 17th, starting at 8 p.m. This has always been one of the high spots of the winter season, and it is hoped that there will be a large turnout again this year. Pass the word around, and get your team entries in to Mr. DeAngelis by Wednesday, so that the races can be set up in advance.

The waters at the Y pool will be churned up by a series of ten races: Backstroke, breaststroke, and freestyle at 50 and 100 yards, 200-yard freestyle, 150-yard medley relay, 200-yard freestyle relay, and a 75-yard individual medley round-out the evening's program.

Five-Men Team

Five men constitute a team-entry. Each man is allowed to swim in two flat races and one relay, OR two relays and one flat race. You are also allowed to swim in the Individual medley, a new innovation to this year's meet. The Department hopes that all participants will arrive in tip-top physical condition, as any drownings or sea-sickness will tend to dampen enthusiasm in the program.

Basketball resumed activity this past week end after a Holiday recess, and surprisingly enough, the teams put out a more coordinated effort than the first week end's rustic action.

SCORES FOR JANUARY 7 and 8. FOLLOWING THE SCORE IS THE NAME OF THE HIGH SCORER FOR THE WINNING TEAM.

LEAGUE/A: Acacia 37-Newman Club 35 (Dunlap, 16); Medical School Juniors forfeited to the "Pirates"; ROTC 45-SPE 35 (Zalewski, 21).

LEAGUE B: PIKA "B" 37-Medical School Frosh 28 (Aabel, 21); Welling Hall 41-Medical School Sophs 37 (Bonieski, 14); Pharmers

Men's, Girl's Rifle Starts

• THE WOMEN'S RIFLE Club began its season with the opening of an intramural match at the range in Corcoran Hall last Thursday.

This match, being fired in two stages between two teams comprising of seven members each, has a course of twenty shots per team member. The five highest scores of each team will determine the winning team.

The ten girls firing the highest scores in this match will be chosen to fire on George Washington's Varsity team which will compete in a Collegiate Postal Match against Cornell University and Vermont University this coming Saturday.

The intramural match is still in progress and there are berths open on the varsity team for experienced rifle-women. If anyone is interested come to the range in the basement of Corcoran Hall Tuesdays or Thursdays between 11 and 2:30 or 7:30 and 9:30 and sign up with Helen Skopic, the team manager.

• THE MEN'S RIFLE Team held its first meeting for the 1956 season last Thursday. Anyone interested should contact Sgt. Purcell, the team coach, in the Air Force Building, Chapin Hall.

Practices will be held Monday-Wednesday-Friday evenings from 7-10 p.m. at the range in the basement of Corcoran. A schedule is being made up with several other teams in the Southern Conference.

Buff Tries To Find Pre-Vacation Play

by Paul Welch

• THE COLONIALS WILL try to find the winning side again this week when they play three away games. Prior to the vacation the Colonials were flying along with a perfect record of six wins.

The stumbling block was the game with Manhattan College when the Colonials developed a case of "Gardenitis" and were upset by the Jaspers, 71-63. The next game was with the Wyoming Cowboys which the team appeared sluggish in winning, 82-75.

The Reinhart group then went on to defeat Michigan State in the Maryland Invitational Tournament, in a sparkling performance defeating the Spartans 65-62, after the Spartans had handed the Terps one of its worst defeats in Coach Milliken's history.

The new year has seen a drastic change in the basketball picture. The Colonials dropped a 62-48 decision to Maryland, even though the Colonials had been installed as a seven-point favorite.

A crowd of 8200 saw the team put on one of its poorest shooting performances, hitting only 34% of their shots and the usually reliable Joe Holup hitting on only three out of 14 attempts. The George Washingtons also were thoroughly out-rebounded by the Terps with a 45-27 margin. Coach Reinhart played nine men in trying to find the right combination.

Last Saturday night, the Richmond Spiders succeeded in tangle up the Colonials in their cobweb, upsetting the Buff, 78-67. The Spiders, who had a mediocre record of 7 wins in 12 games pushed George Washington out of sole possession of first place in the Southern Conference standings.

Reinhart's men put on an even poorer shooting exhibition with a poor 24.6% from the floor. The Colonials, as in the Maryland game, took an early lead, but the Spiders shooting and rebounding (62 to 49 rebounds) turned the tide.

Tuesday night the team will play at Wake Forest. Earlier in the season the Colonials, playing their race-horse style, defeated the Deacons, 101-86. Since then, the (See Buff, Page 7)
